WASHINGTON COUNTY HOSPITAL REOPENING MAY 1 UNDER NEW MANAGEMENT

(Plymouth, NC) On February 14, 2019, Washington County Hospital ceased operations. Next door, the Plymouth Primary Care Rural Health Clinic remained open for prescription renewals and has resumed certain operations under the direction of Dr. Robert Venable. In a few days, Washington County Hospital will be ready to open its doors again. The Hospital will have new management and will be under the supervision of a court-appointed bankruptcy trustee, experienced Winston-Salem attorney and former United States Bankruptcy Judge Thomas W. Waldrep, Jr.

Mr. Waldrep has been the court-appointed bankruptcy trustee for the Hospital since February 22, 2019. He is tasked with, among other things, maximizing the value of the Hospital and its assets, hiring employees and a management company for the Hospital, and managing negotiations and strategies for paying the Hospital's creditors.

Washington County Hospital will reopen its doors on May 1, 2019. Inquiries about the reopening of the Hospital or about the bankruptcy case (North Carolina Eastern District Bankruptcy Case No. 19-00730) should be directed to the attorneys for the bankruptcy trustee, Waldrep LLP in Winston-Salem (336-717-1440) or Hendren Redwine & Malone, PLLC in Raleigh (866-573-8832).
